Overview

- The Seventh District of the Metropolitan Police Department covers much of the Southeast quadrant of the city, including the neighborhoods of Anacostia, Barry Farms, Naylor Gardens and Washington Highlands as well Bellevue.
- The District of Columbia has 83 police service areas (PSAs), seven police districts, and three regional operations commands (ROCs). The PSA is the smallest geographical subdivision of the city; its size and shape usually follow neighborhood and natural boundaries.
- Every resident lives in a PSA. The residents of the Bellevue Area are served by two PSAs – PSA 706 and PSA 710.
